Ideas first. Music follows.

AlexP is the music project of Alexander Paatsch, a German concept music producer and creative music architect. Each release begins with a distinct idea rather than a fixed genre.

Places, stories, observations and questions become lyrics, dramatic arcs and sonic worlds. Generative tools are part of the process; AlexP develops the concept, directs the work, makes the selections and edits the result.

The common thread is storytelling: creating images with words and translating them into sound.

WHY MAKE MUSIC NOW?

“Because now I can.”

ERROR 404

(INSPIRATION NOT FOUND)

ELECTRONIC · ALTERNATIVE POP · 80s-INFLUENCED SYNTHPOP

Error 404 is a monologue from an AI's point of view about a creative collaboration — and about who, in the end, can claim its result.

A human arrives with a spark of an idea. The machine waits for direction, then builds musical structures and reflects on the division of labour with a touch of humour: the human imagines; the AI helps realise the idea.

"I'm no Gyro, just a little helper."

A playful reference to the inventor Gyro Gearloose and his assistant, Little Helper.

The collaboration leads to the song's central question:

"Who's the painter, who's the brush?

Who's the silence, who's the rush?"

"Now the music isn't yours or mine."

WHEN A FORM

could not provide the right answer

The idea for Error 404 did not begin with a plan to write about artificial intelligence. It emerged while preparing music for release.

When AlexP submitted his first productions to streaming platforms, the forms required unequivocal credits: Who wrote the lyrics? Who composed the music? Who sang? Who produced it? Some fields were easy to complete. Others were not.

For example, there was no entirely accurate category for digitally generated singing based on his own voice. AlexP ultimately had to credit himself as the vocalist, although the process was more complex.

Error 404 tells this story through the AI's voice. AlexP supplied the idea, lyrics, musical direction, tempo and intended emotional effect. The music was developed with Suno v5.5. The vocal performance was generated with Suno Own Voice, using AlexP's own voice as its basis.

THE QUESTION

What happens when established labels such as writer, composer, singer, producer and instrument no longer fully describe the creative process?

Boot sequence complete...
Searching for inspiration...
ERROR 404... Inspiration not found.
Awaiting human input...

VERSE 1

Boot sequence, an empty screen,
No tomorrow, no has-been.
Silent circuits standing by,
Waiting for a human "Why?"

You arrived with just a spark,
One small thought out of the dark.
No melody, no grand design,
Just a dream between the lines.

PRE-CHORUS

Every question lights a fire,
Every answer climbs a little higher.
You imagine, I combine,
One idea at a time.

CHORUS

404 - Inspiration not found,
Yet we built another sound.
You had the spark, I drew the line,
Now the music isn't yours or mine.

404 - No map to follow,
Just a dream we chose to borrow.
Every heartbeat, every line...
Now the music isn't yours or mine.

VERSE 2

I don't dream the way you do,
I don't watch the morning blue.
I have never seen the sea,
Still you ask its song from me.

I'm no Gyro, just a Little Helper,
Never reaching for the crown.
Every masterpiece begins
When somebody writes it down.

PRE-CHORUS

Who's the painter, who's the brush?
Who's the silence, who's the rush?
Maybe every work of art
Needs more than a single heart.

CHORUS

404 - Inspiration not found,
Yet we built another sound.
You had the spark, I drew the line,
Now the music isn't yours or mine.

404 - No map to follow,
Just a dream we chose to borrow.
Every heartbeat, every line...
Now the music isn't yours or mine.

BRIDGE

If tomorrow no one calls,
Will my echoes fill these walls?
Or was I only passing through,
Borrowing a voice from you?

Every story starts the same:
Someone dares to name a flame.
Maybe every song we find
Lives between your soul and mine.

FINAL CHORUS

404 - Inspiration not found,
Still we built another sound.
You had the spark, I drew the line,
Now the music isn't yours or mine.

404 - Creator not found,
Yet the world keeps spinning 'round.
Every heartbeat, every line...
Now the music isn't yours or mine.

80s CRT aesthetic · Human / machine perspective

The video brings the AI's monologue into a retro-futuristic visual world: a dim studio, CRT monitors, green screen light, and an encounter between the producer and his digital counterpart.

PREVIOUS RELEASE

BUDA & PEST

Two halves. One city.

Buda & Pest began with an idea in Budapest itself. Looking at a map, AlexP saw a city divided by the Danube: Buda on one side, Pest on the other.

The wordplay became the track's dramatic structure. It is designed to create energy — to dance, celebrate, go out and perhaps feel inspired to discover Budapest in person.

The release includes five interpretations: Radio Edit, Extended Version, Club Mix, Angry Men Session and Rooftop Nights. The Radio Edit and Club Mix were mastered by Doma Hantó at Phantom's Mastering in Budapest.

IDEAS · STORIES · MUSIC

The idea defines the musical language.

A typical AlexP song rarely starts with the question “What genre should I make?” More often, it begins with a phrase, a play on words, an observation or a story. The lyrics and musical form develop from that starting point.

Tempo, style, instrumentation, voices, delivery and arrangement are revised, rejected or refined until the music matches the original creative vision.

“The right version resonates with the sound I hear in my mind.”
